

ScottyLabs Sponsorship Packet

2024-2025

About Us

Our Mission

To foster a community of passionate, interdisciplinary leaders that use design and technology to achieve more.

About ScottyLabs

ScottyLabs is Carnegie Mellon's premier developer club. We are a group of builders, designers, and organizers, passionate about building useful software projects and hosting educational events for our community.

ScottyLabs aims to give students practical experience working on software projects that have an immediate impact on the Carnegie Mellon campus and beyond.

What Sets Us Apart

- Now in our 14th year, ScottyLabs has become part of the CMU campus fabric.
- ScottyLabs services are used by thousands of students each month.
- We host TartanHacks, the largest hackathon in the Greater Pittsburgh area, with 400+ hackers.
- Our six interdisciplinary committees work side-by-side to create tech-driven impact.

Organization Structure

Where We Go

Our members have interned and worked at:

Tech Projects

ScottyLabs designs and develops a variety of tech services geared towards improving the CMU campus experience. We also develop our TartanHacks registration system and dashboard app in-house.

CMU Courses

🔗 cmucourses.com | 19K visits/yr

CMU's go-to course browser. CMU Courses is the only service bringing together course information, schedules, course ratings, and instructor ratings.

CMUEats

🔗 cmueats.com | 36K users/yr

Our one-stop-shop for navigating campus dining locations. Current hours, menus, and daily specials are just a click away.

TartanHacks Registration

🔗 register.tartanhacks.com | 1K users/yr

An in-house registration portal for TartanHacks with built-in team formation. Also includes an admin dashboard for viewing applications, confirming applicants, and analyzing hacker demographics.

TartanHacks Dashboard

🔗 dashboard.tartanhacks.com | .5K users/yr

A mobile app provided to hackers to navigate TartanHacks. Allows users to view the official schedule, check-in to events, and submit their projects.

Lost & Found

🔗 lostandfound.andrew.cmu.edu | 6K visits/yr

CMU's official lost-and-found website, adopted and maintained by ScottyLabs.

Scotty.lol

🔗 scotty.lol | 27K visits/yr

An exciting search tool for CMU, our very own implementation of Facebook's internal bunnylol search tool.

What's New

In addition to our suite of established projects, ScottyLabs members are hard at work developing new and innovative ideas. We've selected a few early-stage projects that we're especially excited about:

CMU Maps

Providing detailed maps with indoor room-level navigation for the entire Carnegie Mellon campus. cmumaps.com

CMU Seats

Study space tracker for on-campus tables, using crowdsourced data to give real-time predictions of seat availability.

TARTAN HACKS<sup>24</sup>

TartanHacks

TartanHacks is the most-attended, longest-running, and highest-quality hackathon in the Greater Pittsburgh Region. For over a decade, we have provided over 400 annual CMU and national students the opportunity to showcase their skills (while having fun!) in a 24-hour hackathon.

The three pillars of TartanHacks are innovation, creation, and education. We encourage and welcome everyone to participate, as we aim to make TartanHacks a friendly environment for all participants, especially for underrepresented and minority groups.

TartanHacks 2024 Stats:

1,019 applications received

403 hackers

89 submitted projects

47% first-time hackers

ScottySpark

ScottySpark is an annual one-day pitch competition for technology solutions to improve the Carnegie Mellon campus experience. Teams of students ideate and pitch their proposals to judges and compete for various prizes. These proposals are evaluated for technical innovation and business viability, tapping into the entrepreneurial side of our organization.

Nova

During Nova: Emerging Technologies Week, participants spend a week building cutting-edge technology, attending talks and workshops, and learning from industry mentors. The event culminates in a final showcase at the end of the week in which groups present a project incorporating an emerging technology they learned about.

Why Sponsor Us?

As Carnegie Mellon University's leading software development club, ScottyLabs has become part of the campus fabric over the last 14 years. We are dedicated to creating technology to serve the CMU community and beyond: our products reach nearly 10,000 students, and we host TartanHacks, the largest hackathon in Pittsburgh, with 400+ participants.

Sponsoring ScottyLabs provides access to some of the brightest minds at CMU, along with unprecedented reach through our projects and events. ScottyLabs has historically created an outsized impact from a limited budget. Your support will help us take the organization to the next level:

- |                 |  |
|-----------------|--|
| Events   | 500+ hackers and 100+ projects at TartanHacks 2025 (mid-February), and bolstered operations at our other educational events.                  |
| Projects | Over 80% of campus using ScottyLabs services , and support for new projects (e.g. CMUMaps, CMUSeats) poised to benefit thousands of students. |
| Members  | Guest speakers and social events , creating a culture at ScottyLabs that extends beyond our work.   |
